Difficult Season

December 16, 2022

A difficult fall leading into a difficult winter for respiratory viruses.

With fall about to become winter, the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention now recommends that people wear indoor masks in 10 counties in New York.

All the counties under the CDC recommendation are in New York City, the lower Hudson Valley or on Long Island. SUNY Purchase, which is in Westchester County and is covered by the CDC recommendation, has just reinstated an indoor mask mandate.

Two SUNY hospitals—University Hospital at SUNY Downstate Health Sciences University in Brooklyn, and Stony Brook University Hospital on Long Island—are also in counties covered by the CDC masking recommendation—Kings and Suffolk counties, respectively.

What’s going on? Outbreaks of two respiratory viruses that had been suppressed for most of the last three years under coronavirus pandemic restrictions—influenza and RSV, or respiratory syncytial virus—combined with surges of coronavirus.

For example: Earlier in the pandemic, infectious disease experts noted that influenza deaths in the United States dramatically decreased. In most flu seasons, from October to May, tens of thousands of people die of influenza in this country.

The U.S. had 748 influenza-related deaths in the 2020-2021 season. The 2021-2022 season saw 5,000 deaths. Already in the current flu season, an estimated 9,300 people have died of influenza in the United States.

What can one person do? Make sure you are vaccinated and boosted against the coronavirus and vaccinated against influenza. Consider wearing a mask in public indoor spaces, even if it’s not required.

Consult with your doctor if you feel ill and suspect influenza or COVID-19. Remember that RSV, a potentially severe illness, can affect adults as well as children, and that most people dying of COVID in the United States now are age 65 or older. Vaccinations, booster shots and masks can protect you and your loved ones.

Use the CDC interactive website to check COVID-19 community levels in your county. ◆

UUP VPA Karl speaks out on bill for on-campus abortion medications

UUP Vice President for Academics Alissa Karl joined SUNY and CUNY students and state lawmakers at a Dec. 14 rally to push a bill that would mandate that the public university systems provide abortion medications on campus.

At the rally, at Barnard College in New York City, Karl and other speakers urged support for the bill, sponsored by Sen. Cordell Cleare and Assembly member Harvey Epstein.

“SUNY campuses are public goods that provide valuable resources to communities across the state,” Karl said. “UUP members at SUNY campuses are already providing health care services to thousands of students and employees every year. A noticeable gap in these services is necessary reproductive health care on our campuses. This forward-thinking legislation will expand reproductive health care capacity in New York and ensure that members of the SUNY community can access reproductive health care without unnecessary barriers.”

Under the bill, 89 CUNY and SUNY campuses would be required to provide access to abortion medication at student health centers that serve over half a million students—of which 57% percent are women. Schools can contract with outside vendors to provide the service; campuses that can’t meet the mandate would be required to provide off-campus referrals to hospitals or clinics.

According to a press release issued by Epstein and the Reproductive Justice Collective at Columbia University and New York City, abortion providers are an average of 11 miles away from SUNY campuses—with some campuses as far as 70 miles away from a clinic. ♦
